HAMMOND TO CONSIDER ORDINANCE CLOSING GAS STATIONS OVERNIGHT

The City of Hammond Common Council, with the support of Mayor Thomas M. McDermott, Jr., will introduce and consider an ordinance that would close gas stations during the early morning hours. The ordinance would mandate the closure of any gas station in city limits between Midnight and 5:00 a.m. The ordinance would affect most of the 37 gas stations in the city, however, some gas stations already close prior to midnight and those agreements with the city would remain in effect.

“We have seen over the last several years violent criminal acts, often involving firearms, occurring at gas stations late and night and in the early morning hours. My job as mayor is to ensure the public’s safety and this ordinance removes a place where, unfortunately, violent incidents continue to take place. I can’t sit back and see innocent people become victims of violent crime. I fully support the Council’s efforts to put these restrictions in place and if passed, I will sign this ordinance into law,” said Mayor McDermott.

Late last month a homicide took place at approximately 2:00 a.m. at a gas station involving a firearm. The victim died at a hospital in Chicago. “This was just the latest violent crime that took place at a gas station. Our gas stations are frequented by people who come into the city from Illinois for cheaper gas, cigarettes, and other items, and in this instance a person was killed in our city while patronizing a gas station late at night. Cross border crime continues to be one of our greatest police challenges. Gas stations have become too frequent of a place late at night where crimes occur,” said the mayor.

The ordinance indicates that violent crimes have occurred late at night at gas stations including car jackings, robberies, batteries, shots fired, criminal recklessness and homicide. The ordinance does allow a gas station to petition the Board of Public Works and Safety for an exception to the Midnight to 5:00 a.m. closure rule.

Five days of fun and entertainment on Wolf Lake at the Festival of the Lakes

Each year the event grows larger and brings in great musical acts. On Wednesday, Ashanti and Ja Rule took the stage with a surprise appearance by Twista. Thursday, the Brothers Osborne rocked out, and on Friday legendary rock band Stone Temple Pilots put on a great show. On Saturday, Lil Wayne provided an energetic performance. The festival had carnival rides the Fishing Derby, Polka Party and food in addition to the live performances.

“It’s really hard, but it’s very satisfying now that it is actually happening,” said Thomas McDermott Jr., Mayor of Hammond. “Everybody’s really happy here. All of the staff have been working hard, and we all have been up too late. When you see all the residents and all the people from all over the region, it’s just really satisfying.”

THIS DAY IN HISTORY AUGUST 1, 1961

The first Six Flags opens in Texas

On August 1, 1961, amusement park lovers “head for the thrills” as Six Flags Over Texas, the first park in the Six Flags chain, has its soft opening. 5 days later, on August 5, the park had its grand opening. Located on 212 acres in Arlington, Texas, the park was the first to feature log flume and mine train rides and later, the first 360-degree looping roller coaster, modern parachute drop and man-made river rapids ride. The park also pioneered the concept of all-inclusive admission price; until then, separate entrance fees and individual ride tickets were the standard. During its opening year, a day at Six Flags cost $2.75 for an adult and $2.25 for a child. A hamburger sold for 50 cents and a soda set the buyer back a dime.

The park, which took a year and $10 million to build, was the brainchild of Texas real estate developer and oilman Angus Wynne Jr., who viewed it as a short-term way to make a buck from some vacant land before turning it into an industrial complex. Wynne reportedly recouped his personal investment of $3.5 million within 18 months and changed his mind about the park’s temporary status. With 17.5 million visitors in its first 10 years, the park became the Lone Star State’s top for-profit tourist attraction. Today, average annual attendance at the park is over 3 million.

One of Six Flags’ unique aspects was that it wasn’t just a random collection of rides; it was developed around a theme: the history of Texas. The park’s name was a nod to the six flags that had flown over the state at various times—France, Spain, Mexico, the Confederacy, Texas and the United States. The park’s rides and attractions were grouped into six themed sections that represented the cultures of these governments and enabled visitors to experience everything from cowboy culture to Southern belles and pirates. Originally, the park was to be called Texas Under Six Flags, before it was decided that Texas should never be under anything. Angus Wynne sold Six Flags in 1969 and in the coming years, the company expanded and was resold. Today, Six Flags, Inc. is the world’s largest regional theme park company and owns and operates 26 theme, water and zoological parks in North America.

Finalists Announced for 2023 Influential Women Awards

165 finalists were selected from a group of over 320 nominees that were submitted by the public. The 165 finalists for the 12th-annual Influential Women Awards were announced today, featuring women from many leading regional companies.

During the awards banquet, two winners will be selected in 12 different industry categories—one Up and Coming Winner and one Influential Woman winner. Additionally, special awards will be given in other categories like Community Leader of the Year and Supporter of the Year.

“Becoming a finalist for the Influential Women Awards is an extraordinary achievement in itself, representing the dedication and remarkable contributions of countless exceptional women in our region. We are immensely proud to unveil this year’s group of finalists and eagerly anticipate honoring their accomplishments at the upcoming awards banquet,” said Erica Dombey, NWIWA board chair.

The 2023 finalists were chosen from a pool of over 320 nominees. They were nominated by their peers and other members of the public for the impact they’ve made on their companies, industries, and communities. Nominations were evaluated by Influential Women alumni from their respective fields.

Past winners come from all kinds of different professional backgrounds, including educators, corporate leaders, hospital officials, government officials, nonprofit heads, caregivers, and many others.

The Influential Women Awards Banquet will take place on September 28th, 2023, at the Avalon Manor in Merrillville.

About NWIWA: The Northwest Indiana Influential Women Association (NWIWA) is the leading regional group for the professional development of women and their careers. Its mission focuses on providing opportunities for professional growth through leadership, support, and education in a variety of industries. Together with its members, NWIWA supports the continuing advancement of women by bringing together the region’s most successful professionals in all areas of business, industry, and community service.

NWIWA is a 501c3 non-profit and all donations are tax deductible.

SENIOR DOGS AT HUMANE INDIANA FETCH GRANT

Humane Indiana

Senior dogs have something to wag about this summer, as The Grey Muzzle Organization announces the recipients of its annual grants, and senior dogs in the northwest Indiana region are among the winners thanks to Humane Indiana.

Humane Indiana is one of 90 animal wellbeing groups chosen from 370 applicants nationwide to receive a grant to help local senior dogs. The winning groups received $848,000 in grants to help save or improve the lives of at-risk old dogs in their communities.

Humane Indiana's clinic provides significantly discounted preventative veterinary care to pets whose people are facing economic challenges. The clinic provides vaccinations, medication, and basic care for pets to residents of East Chicago, Hammond, Merrillville, and Gary, to income-eligible people from other areas, and to pit bulls and pit mixes.

Indiana is one of the nation's top 10 pet-owning states. Veterinary care can be expensive, and the costs tend to increase as pets age. Some senior pet owners are not able to afford the rising costs, and can feel they have no choice but to surrender their beloved pet to a shelter – which can be traumatic for senior dogs used to being in their home, surrounded by family.

“This grant will help us give senior dogs like seven-year-old Jake the veterinary care he needs to stay healthy, and provide it at a discounted rate so his family can afford, so they can stay together,” said Kimberly Ramirez, Clinic Director of Humane Indiana. “No one is more grateful or loving than a senior dog, and we're looking forward to helping more senior dogs be able to stay in their homes where they want to be.”

Over the past 15 years, the national nonprofit Grey Muzzle Organization has provided more than $4.6 million in grants to support its vision of “a world where no old dog dies alone and afraid.”

“Thanks to the generosity of our donors, we're delighted to help deserving organizations like Humane Indiana make a difference in the lives of dogs and people in their communities,” Grey Muzzle's Executive Director Lisa Lunghofer said. “Many senior dogs in northwest Indiana are enjoying their golden years in loving homes thanks to the wonderful work of Humane Indiana.”

The mission of Humane Indiana (HI) is protecting pets, preserving wildlife, and supporting a nurturing connection between animals and people. HI is the largest and longest-running animal wellbeing organization in Northwest Indiana. HI provides lifesaving care reaching 15,000 injured, orphaned, or homeless animals annually. We also serve 30,000 people each year.

HI's programs include shelter and adoption, Estelle Marcus Veterinary Clinic serving low-income people and communities, pet retention programs, shelter transfer partnerships, pet food pantry, spay and neuter services, trap/neuter/restore program for community cats, behavioral training, pet foster care, domestic violence pet partnerships, and wildlife rehabilitation and education center.

*Jake is one of many wonderful senior dogs receiving care at Humane Indiana's Estelle Marcus Animal Clinic, which provides discounted veterinary care for people and pets in need. # PNW College of Business programs earn reaffirmation of accreditation by AACSB

Undergraduate and master's programs offered by PNW's College of Business earned reaffirmation of accreditation by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business accrediting body.

Undergraduate and advanced degree programs in Purdue University Northwest's (PNW) College of Business earned reaffirmation of academic quality and preparation through accreditation by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business International (AACSB).

AACSB International is the world's largest and longest-standing business education network and recognizable premier global accreditor. AACSB accreditation assures PNW's select College of Business programs meet academic quality standards and graduate students who will become leading business professionals in their respective disciplines.

"Reaffirming our AACSB accreditation is a testament to the quality of our programs," said Rachel Clapp Smith, Teddy Jacobi Dean of the PNW College of Business. "The team of business deans who visited our campus to conduct the continuous improvement review (CIR) noted that our faculty bring an amazing passion to the learning experience and that our students and alumni are very impressive. It was a comprehensive review of our programs and, most importantly, the outcomes we produce. The fact that they experienced the unique quality of our faculty and staff reflects the strength of our PNW identity. While meeting with students and alumni, the team noticed that they are truly difference makers and the accomplishments of our alumni really made us stand out. I am thrilled by the outcome and am excited to continue to offer these transformational experiences to the future of Northwest Indiana's leaders."

AACSB's accreditation reflects the following PNW undergraduate and master's programs:

- Bachelor of Science in Accounting (BSA)
- Bachelor of Science in Business (BSB) with a major in Business Information & Analytics, Finance, Human Resource Management, Management, or Marketing
- Master of Accountancy (MACC)
- Master of Business Administration (MBA), including the Executive MBA

PNW's White Lodging School of Hospitality and Tourism Management is separately accredited by the Accreditation Commission for Programs in Hospitality Administration (ACPHA).

PNW's College of Business focuses on providing students with educational experiences that help them grow and develop the skills and abilities needed to achieve their personal and career goals. The college maintains an excellent team of faculty and staff, representing a diverse blend of scholars and distinguished business professionals who bring real-world experience to the classroom; leverages its location in the Northwest Indiana and Chicago corridor as an active learning laboratory for students; and offers a wide variety of academic programs that are intellectually challenging and reflective of recent global trends. To learn more information, visit pnw.edu/business.

"We are proud to acknowledge the strong work ethic and unwavering dedication of our stakeholders and congratulate them on this excellent achievement," said Casey Parker, director of Enrollment Management and Assessment in the PNW College of Business. "AACSB International's accreditation assures that PNW's College of Business programs meet rigorous academic quality standards and produces graduates who are well-prepared for the demands of an ever-changing global business environment."

AACSB International is a nonprofit association with ISO 9001:2015 certification. It accredits more than 950 business schools worldwide. Accreditation includes rigorous external review of a business school's mission, faculty qualifications, curricula and ability to provide high-quality academics.
